

Remembering and Celebrating Indigenous Peoples' Day

During our Staff In-Service days in August we had the pleasure of sharing an afternoon with Judy Dow on understanding the concept and construction of a Land Acknowledgement. Judy has been a tremendous support for our school in understanding the role that Indigenous people have in this country's history. For many years she worked alongside our Middle School program, and in the last few years has expanded to work with our elementary program, staff, and Board.

This coming Saturday, October 9th, in the context of Indigenous Peoples' Day celebration, Judy will be speaking at the Brattleboro Public Library at 2:00 pm. (See the link below). We hope to see our community join in celebrating and honoring the life and heritage of the Abenaki people on this day.

Remembering and Reckoning with Eugenics: Then and Now, a talk and Q+A with Abenaki elder Judy Dow – Brooks Memorial Library – Brattleboro VT

Yupaichani / Gracias / Thank You,

Marco Yunga Tacuri

